c. Executive Director’s Report

i. NASBA Update

Ms. Barry informed the committee that she was asked to serve on the State Society Relations Committee of NASBA. She said it’s a great committee that will give the Society early insight into regulatory issues that are coming down the pike from a national perspective. She informed the committee she also attended the NASBA National Conference a few days prior.

ii. 2017 Trends in the Supply of Accounting Graduates

Ms. Barry shared with the committee the NASBA 2017 Trends Report on the Supply of Accounting Graduates. The information in the report was based on the 2015-16 academic year and the 2016 firm year. Among the takeaways were that student enrollment in accounting is at an all-time high and there has been a shift in terms of bachelor’s vs. master’s degrees for accounting, with master’s degree going down. A discussion followed about how colleges need to change their curriculum in order to make students more hireable by firms, given the changes the profession is experiencing. Ms. Barry cited Barry Melancon of the AICPA as somebody who has been on point regarding this issue.

iii. Other Issues

Ms. Barry announced she had concluded her year as president of CPA SEA, the state society executive directors organization. It gave the Society great exposure and allowed Ms. Barry the opportunity to create new partnerships.

a. Chapters Update

Mr. Becht and Mr. Huttlinger presented their Chapters Activity report. They also discussed the most recent Chapter Presidents call of October 19th. Mr. Huttlinger liked the recent slate of speakers at the Chapter Conference call. Video conferencing is effective and gets more people engaged including the staff.

An issue that came up was there were some registration glitches and issues getting the course materials out for the Adirondack chapter’s recent CPE event. Ms. Barry said she would follow up on that. She said there’s a new electronic registration system but that it will be rolled out slowly.

Mr. Huttlinger also informed the committee that Debbie Cutler communicated with him about comments being made regarding the fee for ethics seminars that she conducts.

Mr. Huttlinger also received feedback from chapters about their respective budgets. Some miscommunication occurred as to when Chapter Budget templates were to be sent. Mr. Payano will send out the templates on November 6 and the chapters are expected to complete them by the middle of December.

contract, in addition to the equal employment opportunity information (such as sex, race, and ethnicity) already required was signed by the Governor during the summer and the Society is still having talks with the Governor’s office. The effective date is sometime in 2018. Ms. Thelmo reminded the committee that the society signed onto a coalition’s letter expressing their disapproval. She will keep the committee apprised of any updates on this matter.

Ms. Thelmo also informed the committee that we signed a letter of support for the Transitional H Certificate, because it would allow CPAs to work in school districts with private experience. The Association of School Board Officials has met with New York State Ed and recommended it to the Board of Regents. It’s now open for public comment and will be taken to the Regents for approval and adoption at the January meeting.

Ms. Thelmo added that the AICPA has put out new attestation standards which conflict with some current New York State reporting requirements. The Society’s Not-for-Profit Committee is working with the Office of Mental Health on SSAE 18.

Ms. Thelmo informed the committee that NASBA decided at their conference to table any further language on the CGMA Designation in Section 14 of the UAA. Ms. Barry, who attended that conference, reported that 37 state societies sent in letters and only 2 approved of the proposed revision to Section 14 of the UAA.

c. Legislative Breakfast Series

Ms. Thelmo discussed the legislative breakfasts which have either been scheduled or are in the process of being scheduled. The breakfasts have been advertised through email blasts, chapter digests and posted on the Exchange.

d. Tax Preparer Advocacy: NYS Tax Department Driver’s License Requirement

Ms. Lutolf discussed the letter that was sent out to Nonie Manion, acting commissioner of the New York State Department of Taxation & Finance in response to their decision to require taxpayers to provide certain driver’s license information when filing their returns. The Society is awaiting her response and when it is received, the letter and the communication will be posted through all of the society’s communication channels. This is important issue for smaller practitioner firms.

Going forward, Ms. Lutolf is looking to create a Small Practitioner section of the website with resources and information. Ms. Barry added that it was the recommendation of the chair of the New York State & Local Tax Committee that we put together an affinity program to help our small practitioners connect with software vendors to provide extra security as a result of this new measure. Ms. Barry will look into this and will also speak to professional liability insurance carriers to see if their premiums can be reduced as a result of the enhanced security.

e. State Board Meeting Update

On October 26, Ms. Thelmo & Ms. Lutolf attended the New York State Board of Accountancy Board of Directors meeting. They talked about the process of pre-license approval. The board office is understaffed and have since hired people, but continue to be understaffed because they lost two more employees through retirement and promotion. Ms. Thelmo has called on behalf of members and other state societies inquiring about the status of their approvals. Also discussed at the meeting were the recommendations made to the Board of Regents regarding Ethics flexibility. It was made clear that these were only recommendations, this would not become final regulations until the Board of Regents adopts and approves them and that there could also be changes. At the Society’s last board meeting on September 19, a motion was made and approved to write a letter to NYS State Board for Public Accountancy supporting certain aspects of the recommendations made by the Board of Directors. Ms. Thelmo will work with Kevin McCoy on this matter. The Society reached out to both the Legislative Task Force and the Professional Ethics Committee that a letter of support regarding CPE ethics requirements be drafted and issued.

The board also addressed the new peer review law for sole practitioners. The State Board will send out notices to sole practitioners and firms with two or fewer practitioners who are registered with the state. The challenges will be reaching out to those firms who are not registered with the SED.

Mr. Deiters warned of potential backlash from some firms who may feel abandoned by the Society and asked the committee to vet their responses with himself, Ms. Barry, Ms. Lutolf or Ms. Thelmo before posting on the Exchange. Ms. Lutolf had disseminated some educational information before bill was passed, and along with Mr. Markezin is planning a free information session with a panel of Peer Review Committee members.

Also discussed at the Board of Accountancy meeting was the emergency regulation which would allow peer review administrators located in other states to provide such administration for SED, thus clearing an obstacle for the Pennsylvania Institute of CPAs to take over administration from NYSSCPA. Mr. Deiters suggested there could be front page information in The Trusted Professional and Ms. Lutolf will continue to provide relevant information Society members and the public.
